SO HOW WAS YOUR VACATION??

After my husband and I were married, my in-laws offered to pay for our honeymoon. Visions of Hawaii or Mexico came to mind. Not quite. They told us we were heading to Disney World. Not only that, but since they’d always wanted to go, they were coming along. Turns out my mother-in-law’s two best friends also always wanted to go to Disney World, as did their three kids, not to mention my sister-in-law and her husband. I can’t say a lot of honeymooning went on. Christina Beitz, El Cajon, CA from Budget Travel

Throughout our tour of an early American bathhouse in Hot Springs, Arkansas, I explained to my four-year-old grandson what people once did there. When we came upon a mannequin at a desk, I told him, “She’s probably writing a letter home to her friends telling them about her vacation to Hot Springs.” My grandson asked, “And then she died and they stuffed her?” Cynthia Franklin, Grenada, Mississippi

On our trip to California, we visited the Getty Museum. After a while, my bored ten-year-old, Nick, was flagging. “If you’re tired, find a place to sit,” I told him. I then went back to the portraits. Minutes later, alarms went off and security guards were scrambling. Turns out, Nick had found a place to get comfortable. He’d crawled under a velvet rope into an exhibit and perched on a priceless Louis XIV, with his legs up on the armrest. Julie Lynch, Ithaca, New York

There ain’t no surer way to find out whether you like people or hate them than to travel with them. Mark Twain

Last year complaints about airlines increased 22 percent. There were probably more complaints, but the airlines lost them. Conan Obrien

Kilometers are shorter than miles. Save gas, take your next trip in kilometers. George Carlin
